

What's Happening around the City of Boulder City

Happy Retirement, Tina Ransom!

After nearly two decades working as a Boulder City dispatcher, Tina Ransom is retiring at the end of this week! In addition to hours of taking emergency calls, her duties have ranged from writing a weekly piece for the Boulder City Review, to planning and coordinating the yearly Citizen's Academy. "Through the years, we had several participants that were leaning to the 'anti-police' side of the scale because of pre-conceived ideas or negative experiences in their past," Tina said. "We scheduled a 10-week class with several special event classes such as shooting range practice, K9 demonstrations, building searches, traffic stops and field trip to the Coroner's Office. By the end, we had a full 100% turnaround to anyone with a negative slant! Most of those students are still involved in volunteer work in law enforcement, in some way, to this day." Tina plans to spend time with family elders, children, and grandchildren, as well as "a great deal of time breathing clean mountain air while casting a fishing line and smelling a smoky campfire." She says she wants people to know that police personnel are, "good, kind, and hardworking folks and the vast majority of contacts with the general public are normal reminders to keep the 'writing between the lines'." Thank you, Tina, for being that calm voice on the line when there is an emergency. Join us in wishing her a wonderful retirement—she has definitely earned it!!

Skate Ramp Repairs Complete

Wear and tear, sun and heat took a toll on the skate ramp at the Skate Park over the years. Last week, Boulder City Public Works staff completed repairs and it's as good as new! Thanks to Dave Stanton and his crew, as well as our Parks and Recreation Department for outstanding work to repair the ramp. Great job, team!! Check it out next time you're in Veterans' Memorial Park.
